

CealDoctor[®]

Helping engines, one particle at a time.

CORPORATE PROFILE

CealDoctor™ products are self-healing lubricants designed at the nano-technology level and formulated for most types of fossil fueled engines and mechanical devices that require internal cures for damaged surfaces due to wear or foreign particle damage. Cracks can be healed in many situations to restore original OEM performance.

CealDoctor™ lubricants are distributed throughout Canada, North and South America, Europe and Asia by CealTec™ Products Inc., a premier distributor of auto products utilizing nano-technology to make products longer lasting and more sustainable.

MANAGEMENT PROFILE

Our TEAM has extensive experience in the automotive and database industries and has been involved in the launch of many advanced concepts and products throughout the past decade. We have successfully assembled a team of industry professional to create the Dynasty IT Electric Vehicle that today is owned by a major automotive company based in Asia. As visionaries our TEAM continues to identify key opportunities in the evolving nano-technology market.
